

College of Eastern Utah

This college is a great asset to our community; it offers more than 400 courses and stages a variety of cultural activities.

This computer building is a prime example of how Price and CEU have worked together to improve our community; it used to be an old hospital that was run down and an eyesore.

It is nice to see more buildings being built; more young people can get an education without having to move away; it also brings more economy into the area.
